Sprint 4 Report

Actions to stop doing:

- The team is satisfied with our current development process because we figured out how to split up tasks properly. Having half the team develop the current feature and the other half looking into the upcoming features then helping finish up whatever needs to be done not helped the team get a headstart on upcoming sprints, but also made sure that the entire sprint was being utilized to complete the user stories.

Actions to start doing:

- None, development has finished
